LECTURED ON

CLEAN MILK

The John Langdon Club, at their regular meeting on Monday evening, heard a most interesting lecture on "The Production of Clean Milk," delivered by Prof. S. C. Prescott, professor of biology of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Prof. Prescott is in charge of the milk examinations in Boston and has made a thorough study of the subject and has a way of presenting it that is very interesting. His lecture was illustrated with slides made in various parts of Massachusetts.

Following the lecture a substantial lunch was served.

NEWFIELDS

John D. Clay, the oldest male resident of this town, died on Monday after an illness which has lasted for several weeks. He was eighty-eight years, six months and nineteen days, being born June 21, 1821, in the northern part of the state of rugged pioneer parentage. A part of his early life was spent in the town of Hanover and he was conversant with many anecdotes of Dartmouth college. During his life he had followed many vocations, and was at one time a much demanded sheep shearer. He has also worked at the occupation of a well driver. His places of residence have been many in this state and Massachusetts. In the latter he lived in Medford for several years. Mr. Clay had been a resident here for the last fifteen years, where he has been engaged in farming till the infirmities of age confined him to the house. He had been lame for the last few years. Not connected with any church or fraternal order, he was, however, a respected and esteemed citizen. Last June he was presented with a gold-headed cane as the oldest citizen of the town, which was to remain in his possession for life and at his death was to go to the next oldest. This distinction now falls to Henry Chesley of Rockingham. Mr. Clay was a widower and is survived by two sons Charles, who is at the head of a sanatorium in Massachusetts, and Curtis of Methuen, Mass.

It was apparent that no great obstacle stands in the way of obtaining the Chicago, which the Massachusetts authorities prefer to the larger vessel, the battleship Texas, which the department at first preferred the state should have. Gen. Brigham and Capt. Parker paid a hurried trip to Washington Monday. They called at the residence of Senator Lodge and the three then went at once to the navy department, where the question of a naval reserve ship was discussed.

It was apparent that no great obstacle stands in the way of obtaining the Chicago, which the Massachusetts authorities prefer to the larger vessel, the battleship Texas, which the department at first preferred the state should have.

Gen. Brigham also requested that an active naval officer be detailed to the Chicago as an instructor for the naval militiamen of the Bay State. This, perhaps, will not be so easy a request to grant, as naval officers available for such duty are few.

NEW HAMPSHIRE VETERANS

Massachusetts Association Held a Meeting on Monday Night

Boston, Jan. 1.—The Massachusetts Association of New Hampshire Veterans held its annual banquet and ladies' night last evening at the American House. Fifty veterans, together with their wives and daughters, were gathered for the reception and dinner. The speakers were John Parker, commander of the department of Massachusetts, G. A. R.; Maj. William H. Trickey, 3 New Hampshire volunteers; James Burroughs and George A. Hosley. A musical program was given by the daughters of several of the members.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Henry W. Rowe; vice president, J. H. Burpee; secretary, W. W. Flish; chaplain, J. W. Adams; treasurer, E. L. Goodwin; executive committee, Robert A. Blood, Maj. D. W. Gould and L. D. Wright.

The composer heard her sing in Milan, and was delighted with the quality of her voice and the limpid clearness of her notes, so that he consented to write the work especially for her.

The libretto for the new opera is by Sig. Luigi Illica, a specialist in this kind of work, to whom are due the largest number of librettos put to music in the last 20 years in Italy.

The subject chosen this time by Maestro Mascagni is based on Tennyson's poem of "Lady Godiva," but will take the name of "Ysobel."

It may be stated, in the hope that it will not reach the ear of the composer, that, so far he has not written a note, but he emphatically states that the whole opera will be ready in October, 1910.

Bald Eagles Return for Winter

Electric Company Gave a Banquet

Exeter, Jan. 11.—The two bald eagles, which are seen each winter about the Swanscott river, have been noted again this season. They are fine specimens of the national bird, and appear to have their nests in the woods among the banks. Places where the river is open between here and Newfields have afforded favorite haunts for wild ducks, and several of them have been seen there this winter.

The Exeter and Hampton Electric company Monday evening tendered the local Board of Trade a banquet at the Squamscott house. Plates for thirty-five guests were laid, among the number who were the guests of the evening were F. W. Burroughs, editor of the New England magazine of Boston, and Allen Hollis of Concord president of the Exeter and Hampton Electric company. Mr. Burroughs addressed the guests by an informal discourse, in which he related many facts of interest, and proved an interesting speaker. Other speakers were Mr. Hollis, President Elbridge A. Goodwin and Secretary Dana W. Baker of the Board of Trade. Charles W. Rogers, superintendent of the electric company, presided as toast master. Other guests included members of the two organizations. The object of the banquet was to promote fraternity among the organizations, and thus to co-operate in the induction of some enterprise to locate here.

A sale which is to take place today is that of the box factory of G. C. Colburn. The firm has been engaged in business here for several years, and the location is such as to induce some enterprise to make the purchase. The sale will include the real estate, and the machinery, power plant and entire equipment.

George S. Cobb camp, Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, is making arrangements for an entertainment to be held Jan. 31. It is to take the form of a nickel social. The members are also contemplating special exercises on Lincoln's birthday.

MASCAGNI'S NEW WORK

Lady Godiva Subject—American Girl Star—Lieblers Have Rights

The Boston Herald prints the following dispatch from Rome:

Whoever knows and realizes what it means to deal with Maestro Mascagni, and to induce him to sign a contract, must consider it a miracle that Messrs. Liebler and company have succeeded in securing his next opera from the composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," with the proviso that it shall be ready to be given in any town in the United States by the first week in December, 1910, and that (as though all this were not enough) Mascagni himself shall again go to the United States, notwithstanding the unpleasant experiences of his last visit, and shall direct the rehearsals and conduct all the performances.

Of course with Maestro Mascagni it does not mean that all this will take place, no matter how many contracts he has signed with all the possible chances to nail him down to what has been asked of him, and what he has agreed to, but still, much has been accomplished in that direction, and this time the composer may be forced to fulfill all his engagements, also because his publisher, Sig. Sonzogno, entered into the arrangements and because he has also another contract that the new opera which he is writing for America shall be given in Rome in the beginning of 1911 for the celebration of that year on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Proclamation of Rome as the capital of Italy.

There are, however, two other reasons stronger than all the others, in the mind of the Maestro, who has never thought that legal papers could be a brake, or a limitation or an incitement to his genius, and to the productiveness of his musical fire; he is in love with the subject he has chosen, and he thinks that he has found in Miss Bessie Abbott, the young American prima donna, the most ideal protagonist for his new work.

The composer heard her sing in Milan, and was delighted with the quality of her voice and the limpid clearness of her notes, so that he consented to write the work especially for her.

NEW WHIRLWIND RECORDS

Storrow Visits Thirty-Six Meeting Places, While Fitzgerald Wins Up Campaign With Tally of Forty—Both Candidates Confident of Result—Tremendous Betting on Today's Decision by Voters

Boston, Jan. 11.—Never has a city campaign closed with so much earnestness, so much enthusiasm, so much confidence by the friends of the leading contestants as has the present one.

The entire city was alive with political excitement. A conservative estimate places the number of citizens who attended the rallies last night at over 50,000. This attendance, too, is a record breaker in the city's history.

Men waited in packed halls or club rooms from 7 o'clock to greet Mr. Storrow or Mr. Fitzgerald with cheers and assurances of their support. Citizens cheered, threw their hats in the air or capered like madmen to show their loyalty to their special favorite.

Both the leading candidates made new whirlwind records also. Storrow visited thirty-six places and Fitzgerald did visit forty. Storrow closed his tour of a continuous ovalion through the twenty-five wards of the city with a big and enthusiastic welcome to East Boston shortly before midnight. Fitzgerald closed his night's tour with a big meeting in Faneuil hall.

Both candidates speak confidently of the result today. At both the Storrow and Fitzgerald headquarters there is cheerfulness, bespeaking without words what they expect election day to show.

The betting on the result has been tremendous, and thousands of dollars await the decision. Early yesterday the odds were at Storrow, but so much Fitzgerald money appeared that the betting became even, and toward midnight there were bets taken at the rate of ten to nine on Fitzgerald.

The managers for both Mr. Taylor and Mayor Hibbard are active, and although the general impression is that both will poll a total of not over 12,000, still their political representatives are working just as hard as success was assured their efforts.

Bands paraded the districts last night, boys carrying banners and flags awoke the streets, crowded halls kept their neighborhoods from sleep; with their cheers, hotels held clusters of citizens joined in partisan arguments, and bet bidders were kept busy recording wagers.

There has never been such a night for political excitement as the night that closed this, the greatest of mayoralty campaigns in this city.

Armed with long torch sticks, red fire torches and lumps of ice, a mob of over 200 men and boys made an attack upon the automobiles bearing Storrow and his followers, at the corner of Dorchester avenue and Fourth street, South Boston, last night. Storrow was struck across the arm, which he raised to protect his head from a vicious swing of a stick. Robert L. Norton, Storrow's press representative, was hit on the head, and Herman Hormel, secretary of the Republican city committee, was hit on the nose with a stick. Several reporters in the following car and the two chauffeurs of both cars were hit.

Results In Fitchburg Man Being Held For Death of His Brother

Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 11.—Adolpho Matacchiono, aged 38, was held for the grand jury without bail on the charge of murdering his brother, Alfonso.

A feud between the brothers, which started over Alfonso's refusal to allow Adolpho to pay attention to the former's sister-in-law, Messia Calli, some years his junior, ended in Adolpho forcing an entrance into his brother's house at midnight, and, the police say, shooting Alfonso.

CAPTURED IN CHICAGO

Arrest of Youthful Philadelphia Heiress and Eloping Companions
Chicago, Jan. 11.—Miss Roberta De Jonon, the granddaughter of Robert Burat, the millionaire seed merchant of Philadelphia, and Frederick Cohen, who eloped with her from Philadelphia Dec. 29, were arrested by the police in a North Side boarding house.

The 17-year-old girl and her companion, who have successfully eluded the police of every large city in the country and scores of private detectives sent in search of them by the young woman's relatives, were found in a $4 a week room, where they had been since last Thursday night.

Both the girl and Cohen said that the elopement was the result of the young woman's desire to get away from her grandfather and be freed from the necessity of attending school.

They went to New York city on Dec. 29, according to Cohen's statement, remaining there only a few hours. Thence they went to Montreal, where they took train for St. John. There they boarded a steamer for England. At Halifax they abandoned the sea voyage and went to Boston by rail. From Boston they came to Chicago.

The girl said that she and Cohen reached Chicago with only $1.60 and that she gave Cohen a bracelet and a necklace which he pawned to procure money to live on.

OVERPOWER POLICEMEN

Yeggmen Then Put Victims In the Town Lockup

BLOW POSTOFFICE SAFE

Woman Awakened by Noise of Explosion Calls Up Telephone Operator, Who Sounds Fire Alarm—Scores of Citizens Join in Pursuit of Fleeing Desperadoes and Track Them to Woods

Spencer, Mass., Jan. 11.—Five robbers, armed and masked, held up two town policemen at the point of revolvers, and after beating them into insensibility and locking them in cells in the police station, blew open the postoffice safe.

The yeggmen escaped to the South Spencer woods, taking with them about $30 in stamps and money. They overlooked a large sum of money in one of the strong boxes.

The raid on the postoffice was one of the most sensational acts of desperadoes in the history of the state. That it was carefully planned is the opinion of the town officials and Postmaster Tripp.

Town Officers Morton and Collette were standing in front of town hall about 2:30 o'clock in the morning when five men, armed and masked, suddenly jumped out of a doorway and commanded them to throw up their hands.

Although five revolvers were leveled at their heads, the officers attempted to draw their own guns. Before they had an opportunity of doing this, however, the five men leaped at them and pummeled them with the butts of their revolvers. As a result the officers were stretched on the snow unconscious.

Then the robbers, who had previously obtained a key to the main door of the town hall, carried the policemen into the station and put them in separate cells, locking the steel doors as they departed.

From the town hall the yeggmen went directly to the postoffice a few blocks away. Entrance was gained to the building by forcing open the front door with a chisel.

Three holes were then bored in the safe and the doors blown open by a charge of nitro-glycerine. The manner in which the men went about drilling the safe leaves no doubt but that they were experienced safecrackers.

The roar made by the explosion awoke Mrs. Walter Haynes, who lives in the rear of the postoffice. She telephoned an alarm to the central office of the telephone company, and from there a general fire alarm was turned in.

The pealing of the fire bells and the tooting of whistles alarmed the robbers, who fled hastily from the building. They took with them $30 in money and stamps which they found in a small cash box in the safe.

From Spencer the robbers made their way toward South Spencer, taking the main highway. Several farmers along the route heard the men as they dashed by and fired at them.

At South Spencer the robbers made a short cut toward the woods by crossing the land of Harry L. Lyford, a town constable. Lyford was awakened to see the men running across his land. He got his revolver, and dashingly from the house, fired at the fugitives. Owing to the darkness none of the five shots reached their marks.

When fired upon, the robbers dropped to the snow, and from a crouching position returned the fire. Lyford escaped being hit by the fusillade of shots.

In the meantime the fire alarm had called out scores of citizens. A posse was quickly formed, and the fugitives were trailed by the tracks in the snow to the South Spencer woods.

The imprisoned officers were not found until an hour and a quarter after they had been held up. Two men, passing by the town hall, noticed the main door open. They communicated their information to one of the selectmen, who found the officers locked in cells.

Both officers were very weak from the terrific beating they had received, but nevertheless were able to give much valuable information as to the general appearance of the men.

Mysterious Explosions Continue

Chicago, Jan. 11.—A mysterious explosion, which was credited in some quarters as being another outbreak in the gamblers' war, damaged the building at 323 State street, and jeopardized the lives of five soldiers, who were asleep in the army recruiting station on the third floor. The same building was wrecked last summer in the explosion of bomb No. 30.

Newcastle, Eng., Jan. 11.—The colliery miners resolved to stop work throughout the Newcastle district to resist the employers' proposal to enforce the extra time allowed under the eight-hour law.

Wages of 1907 Restored

SUCUMBS TO DRINK

One of New York's Most Noted Spendthrifts Dies in Chicago Resort

Chicago, Jan. 11.—A post-mortem examination of the body of Nathaniel F. Moore, son of James H. Moore, the Rock Island thunderer, showed that death was due to heart disease, superinduced by intoxication. Young Moore was found dead in the resort of Victoria Shaw.

New York, Jan. 11.—The death of Nathaniel F. Moore in Chicago ends the career of one of New York's best known spendthrifts and bon vivants. His marriage to Miss Helen Page in 1905 followed romantic courtship and a motor trip through the south of France.

Young Moore caused Broadway to grieve in the winter of 1907 by giving a $20,000 dinner to a select few. Gold and diamond sleeve buttons were given away to the guests. At a dinner given on his 21st birthday Moore gave away pearl necklaces. When Broadway pallied on him Moore went west and began to hustle freight for the Rock Island to learn the railroad business. He got $40 a month.

SPECTACULAR AIR TRIPS

Paulhan Thrills Twenty Thousand Spectators at Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—Making a sudden and dramatic appearance while 20,000 spectators were watching the slow flight of two dirigible balloons at Aviation park, Louis Paulhan threw the great throng into frenzy of enthusiasm by a spectacular flight of twenty-nine minutes in a Farman bi-plane and added to the feat two other flights of ten minutes and twenty-nine minutes.

"We cannot do anything with that Fenchman," said Richard Ferris, master of ceremonies, when people began to inquire for Paulhan. "He pays no attention to regulations or to the course laid out for the flights. I would not be surprised to see him appear suddenly on his machine through the top of his tent." That was almost what Paulhan did.

GARDNER AGAIN IN INSURGENT CAMP

Changes His Mind About a Cessation of Hostilities

Washington, Jan. 11.—Among the significant developments of the insurgent situation in the house is the return to the insurgent camp of Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, son-in-law of Senator Lodge. Gardner gave out an interview early in the session, in which he was quoted as favoring a cessation of hostilities. He says that he is now in favor of a radical program of action. He said:

"As there is to be no truce, I expect to act with the insurgents on all matters relating to the rules and management of the house of representatives. I had hoped that things would take a different turn and there would be no split in the party, but I do not at all blame the house insurgents for resenting the attacks upon them."

MILITARY SCHOOL BURNED

Students March Out in Nightclothes at Call of the Bugle

Newburg, N. Y., Jan. 11.—The New York Military academy at Cornell was destroyed by fire. The main building, the observatory, the laboratory and the manual training buildings were all burned to the ground. Bard hall, used by the younger students, escaped. Nobody was hurt in the fire.

When the fire was discovered near the kitchen the bugle was sounded and the cadets, with military precision, marched out, most of them in pajamas and bathrobes. They lost all their personal effects. There were about 150 students in the academy.

The buildings destroyed were worth about $125,000. The academy had educated young men for West Point for forty years.

SOME FARMING POINTERS

The guest of honor at the banquet of the Beacon Society at the Algonquin club in Boston on last Saturday night was Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture of the Dominion of Canada, who spoke of the present conditions and the outlook for the future in agricultural line. Among other guests were Lieutenant Governor Frothingham of Massachusetts, and President Lucius Tuttle of the Boston and Maine railroad.

The speech of the honorable Canadian cabinet minister was the feature of the evening and it deserves considerable attention here in New England. Mr. Fisher said it was possible to look ahead to the time when the United States would have ceased by reason of congestion of population to be the food-producing nation, that it was now, and he assured his hearers that Canada would then be abundantly able to feed the United States. As an example of the way Canada was developing her resources he said that in ten years her products of agriculture had increased from $160,000,000 to $563,000,000, and she had yet only touched the fringe of her possibilities. And all that production was of a high class, he added. Canada, he said, had 213,000,000 acres of available land, yet only 12,000,000 were under crops at present, 7,000,000 of acres of that total, in wheat, producing annually about 147,000,000 bushels of No. 1 northern or hard wheat, that American millers had to keep up the standard of Minneapolis flour.

If Canada is going to feed the United States it is time for us to see if we can't do more toward feeding ourselves. Progress like charity begins at home, and New England farming is the class that ought to interest New England people. One of the first questions is sure to be about yellow corn. The answer to that is that right here in New England some men are raising yellow flint corn that runs more weight of shelled corn to the acre than is raised in any western state with either yellow or white dent corn.

The recent National corn exposition at Omaha awarded the prize for the best flint corn to a Massachusetts man, George E. Stickney of West Newbury, and one of the features of that corn was that it ran sixty pounds of shelled corn to each seventy pounds of corn in the ear. Six acres yielded four hundred bushels of No. 1 shelled corn.

Mr. Stickney is probably one man who probably thinks it is cheaper to raise corn in New England than to have it hauled from the west. We hope that opinion is correct.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

There will be a great celestial pageant in the western sky this week and next. ## AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Who is Right, Taft or Pinchot? For his act of insubordination in writing to Senator Dooly with the knowledge that it would be read in the upper branch of Congress, a letter defending his associates Price and Law Officer Shaw in the public criticisms of Secretary Ballinger, the chief forester, Clifford Pinchot is summarily removed from the service of President Taft. It is only the belated happening of an inevitable event.

Mr. Pinchot must have realized that he was making a distinct bid for dismissal. There was nothing else the President could do, except ask for the resignation of Mr. Ballinger, and that, of course, his sympathies and confidence being with his own appointee, he would not consider.

When the controversy re-opens and unqualified civil war, the lesser commander had to be relieved.

It is evident, too, from President Taft's letter to Mr. Pinchot, that he felt a personal affront in the forester's communication to Dooly. Tradition, precedent, the courtesies of official relations he believed to have been violated and for that reason, in part, at least, he directed the recalcitrant officials removal.

It is perfectly evident that this rupture, which is certain to arouse violent controversy in the nation, should have no bearing whatever on the merits of the cause to be investigated by Congress. Dismissal does not prove Mr. Pinchot wrong. De-nunciation of Glar, Shaw and Price does not settle the Alaskan coal lands scandal, by any means. It takes another and a longer road to arrive at the truth.

Spite of the presidential dictum, Congress is in duty bound to proceed on its inquiry fearlessly and without prejudice.—Boston Globe.

New England Apples

A most surprising sight nowadays is to see a display of beautiful apples in the fruit stores and to be told that they have come from Colorado, Oregon, Montana or some far away farming section with no better land for growing apples than we have right here in New England. What is the matter with the New England farmer that he fails to compete with apples grown three thousand miles from his back yard?

The soil of New England is unsurpassed for the growing of apples, and yet the profitable apple orchards that are conducted in modern, up-to-date manner in this section are few indeed. Has the farmer grown too rich, too fat or too lazy to take advantage of this demand? If so he should not complain about the hard times. The shippers of apples to foreign parts have been offering the most tempting prices to our New England farmers for years, and yet few of them seem to take advantage of the situation. Many of our most prudent citizens are swelled into investing money in orange groves, banana fields, etc. In the tropical sections, which seldom yield anything like the dividends or the profits that the investor expect. Yet right here at home is a field for investment that can hardly prove unprofitable. To start an apple orchard with trees of various high grade and popular varieties would yield a handsome profit that would surpass the earning power of any orange grove or banana plantation in the country. Land suitable for growing apples can be bought for less than fifty dollars an acre, and the trees require but little attention while the harvesting of the crop is inexpensive. Here is a chance for any one to start a profitable enterprise.—Lowell Sun.

A SIMPLE CURE FOR HAIR TROUBLES

There are no better things known for treating the hair and scalp than Refined Soap, White of Eggs, Glycerin, Cocchia Coconut Oil and Saffliche Acid. The soap cleanses the scalp of dirt. The Cocchia Oil helps to make a father and gives a beautiful gloss to the hair. The White of Eggs loosens dandruff and scales off the scalp. Glycerin soothes and heals because of its emollient properties. Saffliche Acid is a destroyer of germs and bacteria and is an antiseptic that prevents disagreeable odors. Girl's Head Wash is made of all the above ingredients. It is a new aesthetic preparation that keeps the scalp open so the hair follicles can secure proper nourishment.

The Future of the Daughter.

I WISH that every woman in the world was so situated that she need not think it necessary for her to marry if she did not want to. I would be the last man in the world to put anything in the way of matrimony, but believe girl should be so situated as to her future as to be able to make a free choice and to look forward to a life of unmixed happiness. I venture to think, that the best legacy that can be left to a young man is a good education and a good character by training in a family of good moral standards and nothing else.

The same thing is true with respect to the young women who have a fair chance in life to earn and carve out their own futures. The great trouble has been that we have not given the women a fair show. We have not opened all the avenues to livelihood that they are quite as well able to fill as we, and in certain respects better able to fill than we. I am not a rabid suffragist. The truth is I am not in favor of suffrage for women until I am convinced that all the women desire it; and when they desire it, I am in favor of giving it to them; and when they desire it they will get it too. But I do not believe that one of the advantages in giving them that kind of influence will be more certainly to open avenues of self-respect to them than has heretofore been done.

I shall be glad that I shall not have any property to leave to my boys, of whom I have two, but only a good character and a pride in themselves and a good education, but for my daughter, I am going to scrape together, as much as I can give her and as good an education as I can, so that she shall take in the lesson which I first sought to announce as the text of my discourse: that she shall marry only when she chooses to marry and not because of circumstances.

PROVINCETON MEANS A GOOD DEAL TO THE CITY.—Littleton Courier.

The Congressional Insurgents

The strategic position of the insurgents in Congress was weakened by their statement that they overruled the Pinchot-Ballinger investigation resolution, not because of Pinchot but because they saw an opportunity to humble Speaker Cannon. That has been the weakness of the insurgent position in the past. They have magnified the importance of the defeat of Cannon and have not recognized their opportunity to stand for more vital issues.

Having accomplished the overthrow of the Speaker in this particular matter it is now apparent that their act had no greater significance and that they are not in a position to accept the responsibility of the power they have gained. There is no indication that they will follow up this empty victory by naming the House members of the committee on investigation.—Boston Herald.

GOING TO ROME

Bishop Guertin of the Diocese of Manchester to Visit the Pope

Bishop George Albert Guertin of the diocese of Manchester has announced that he will during the year visit Rome. In reading his report of the Cathedral parish for the year of 1909 the following figures were given:

The receipts for the year amounted to $31,656.00 and the expenditures $31,433.31, leaving a balance to the credit of receipts of $23.05.

The spiritual report of the diocese showed a population of 5221 souls. The census of all the parishes in the state would be taken this year, which would give an accurate idea of the world's greatest drama.

Mr. Ellsworth has made a life study of his subject, and his superb collection of views, is the most complete now before the public.

Mr. Ellsworth does not confine his subject to the Passion Play alone, but has a series of marvelous views of the village, the theatre, the surrounding country, and every one of the leading performers in his every day life and then costumed in the character he portrayed.

Every scene and tableau in the play will be shown, and all were colored by the world's greatest colorist, Miss Louise Pollock, at Milan, Italy.

Orchestra, choir singers, cathedral chimes and colossal organ will appear here.

CHANGE LOBSTER LAWS

Massachusetts Commission Suggests Conformity with Maine

Boston, Jan. 11.—Several amendments to the lobster-taking laws of the state are suggested in the annual report of the Fish and Game commission, submitted to the legislature on Monday.

The legislation favors a conformity with the laws of Maine, in making the measurement of a legalized lobster, 13-1 inches upon the shell, exclusive of the tail. The commission also suggested that lobster fishermen and dealers be licensed and that all lobsters or parts of the fish be sold in the shell.

THE DISCORD

AT DURHAM

And Question of the Efficiency of Professor Sanderson

Durham, Jan. 11.—Great interest has been aroused throughout the state, particularly among farmers and New Hampshire college alumni, on account of the resignation of Prof. E. Dwight Sanderson, as director of the New Hampshire agricultural experiment station.

The trouble dates from the meeting last April of the board of trustees of New Hampshire college, when John G. Tallant, one of the members, called for the resignation of Prof. Sanderson. Mr. Tallant's chief reason was that Prof. Sanderson was not a practical farmer. Prof. Sanderson was invited to defend himself and he did it so well that Mr. Tallant was forced to withdraw his motion.

Before the October meeting of the board Prof. Sanderson handed in his resignation as director. At the October meeting there were only seven out of the 11 trustees present and when it came to voting on Prof. Sanderson's resignation, two of the seven members refused to vote and when the ballot was taken it stood three in favor of accepting the resignation and two against; therefore, the resignation was accepted.

In the latter part of November the United States department of agriculture sent here a representative to inspect the experiment station. Upon the report of the representative Secretary Wilson refused to endorse the quarterly payment of $700 due to the New Hampshire institution through the Hatch and Adams funds, and payable Jan. 1, 1910.

Shortly after the investigation by the federal department it called for a special meeting of the board of trustees, but was turned down. In a letter to Prof. W. L. Gibbs of the college Dr. E. C. True of the department of agriculture heartily praised the work of Prof. Sanderson, as director, but does not think the government appropriations were being spent as advantageously as they might be.

J. G. Tallant, besides giving as his chief reason when calling for Prof. Sanderson's resignation, that he was not a practical farmer, alleged that the low condition of the college forest and certain college buildings were to blame. Prof. Sanderson, and also that he had too many outside duties, which prevent him from acting effectively as director.

Next Wednesday there is to be another meeting of the trustees, at which Prof. Sanderson will be present as will also be two representatives from Washington. The outcome of this meeting will be anxiously awaited by all persons who are interested in agriculture and experiment work.

A WOMAN'S DEATH

May Stir up Some Trouble in York county

Saen, Jan. 11.—Following the sudden death of Mrs. Lorenzo T. Davis, aged 48, which occurred at her home in Lyman some time Sunday morning, an investigation has been commenced at the instance of County Attorney Fred A. Hobbs and on Monday Coroner Walter L. Bennett of this city and Medical Examiner Wurzburg of Sanford went to Lyman to perform an autopsy on the body of the woman.

Mrs. Davis was the wife of Lorenzo T. Davis, a farmer, and the couple lived on a farm. Dr. Morse of Goodwin's Mills, who was called early Sunday morning arrived about four o'clock to find the woman dead. It was his opinion that she had been dead about two hours, but he was unable to determine the cause.

Sunday Chairman Hill of the board of selectmen notified the county attorney, who ordered an investigation.

EARLY IS A LEPER

New York, Jan. 11.—By a special committee of five, appointed in December by the Society of Medical Jurisprudence at the suggestion of Dr. L. Duncan Bullock to investigate the case of John R. Early, the United States soldier who was long held a quarantined prisoner by the authorities at Washington as a leper, Early has been adjudged a leper.

The committee made public its findings at the society's monthly meeting at the New York Academy of Medicine last night. The committee was composed of the following:

Theodore Sutro, lawyer; Dr. Reynold Webb Wilcox, Dr. Edward F. Fisher, Dr. Eberhard Dietrich; A. Deles Kneeland, lawyer and former magistrate; Alfred E. Ommen, executive as president of the society.

The voluminous report of the committee caused a lively discussion. Dr. Henry Russell, a skin expert, declaring the actions of the committee, all of whom, save one, drew their conclusions from an examination of a section of Early's skin that had been removed to be "a case of absent treatment." This brought a sharp rebuke from President Ommen.

Sections of Early's skin were shown at the meeting and under the microscope bacilli were discerned. The report, which was not read until 10 o'clock, after a long and private meeting of the signers of it, was in part as follows:

"The medical members of the committee found John R. Early to be a probable leper.

"They find him a leper because of the demonstration of Dr. Henry Kremer, of the bacilli of leprosy in preparation made from his skin, and which have been identified and confirmed by Drs. Delirich, Fordyce, Whitehouse and Morrow.

"The legal members of the committee in view of the foregoing findings by the medical members of the committee and of the records and exhibits herewith presented find that the action taken with reference to John R. Early by the authorities at Washington, D. C., was within the provisions of the Interstate Quarantine Regulations of the United States making leprosy a quarantinable disease. Respectfully submitted,

Theodore Sutro,
A. Deles Kneeland,
Eberhard W. Dietrich, M. D.
Edward F. Fisher, M. D.

AFTER THE FIRE*Farmington Getting things Back Into Orderliness

Farmington, Jan. 11.—The cause of the $125,000 fire which destroyed much of the business section here on Sunday morning is still a mystery. Henry Wilson, a clerk in the store where the fire started, left the place about an hour before the outbreak of the blaze, and says there was no evidence of fire then; that the fire in the furnace was very low, as he intended to allow it to go out and burn again Monday morning.

The only personal accident during the trouble was sustained by James Cooley, who while trying to help extinguish the fire was struck in the leg by a bullet from cartridges exploding in the flames. It is believed the wound is a slight one.

Many insurance agents have arrived to view the ruins, but no action has been taken toward clearing the site or making settlements.

Supt. W. J. Webb of the telephone service for this district arrived Sunday with about 20 linemen and continued work all night. By Monday afternoon a permanent office had been established and all local and long distance connections restored. The electric lights were also put in operation Monday night.

MONEY FOR FORTIFICATIONS

Washington, Jan. 11.—Fortifications for the United States and its insular possessions for the year 1911 will cost $5,617,200, over $2,500,000 less than for 1910, if the house adopts the recommendations of the appropriation committee. The committee cut the department estimate for the coming year $1,100,524.50.

The largest single item in the appropriation is for the seacoast batteries of the Philippine Islands, where it is recommended that $500,000 be expended in the coming year. For the light and power plants in the Philippines, $45,000 is recommended, for searchlights for important harbors in the islands $139,000, with some thousands of dollars for scattering items, including $7000 for the reclamation of land for fortification purposes.

The total for fortifications in the Philippines and Hawaii is $2,689,300. The sum half a million is recommended for seacoast guns and enlargements; and for the purchase, manufacture and test of land turrets $824,800. Two hundred thousand dollars is recommended for the construction of fire control stations and accessories.

The total for armament and fortifications for defense in the United States is $1,970,000, the principal item in which is one of $600,000 for mountain, siege and field cannon and equipment. An appropriation of $430,000 is recommended for ammunition and submarine guns for seacoast artillery practice, which is practically the same amount appropriated for the present year.

The sum of $300,000 appears for searchlights for important harbors and $200,000 for the construction of fire control stations, range finders, etc. The estimate of $370,000, to be used for the alteration and maintenance of seacoast artillery, as allowed in the bill.

The principal cuts from the 1910 appropriation are in ammunition for seacoast guns, seacoast batteries in the Philippines, alteration and maintenance of seacoast artillery, submarine mines and sites for fortifications and seacoast defenses in the United States.

MRS. MORSE*Talks About Her Husband and His Incarceration

New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Charles W. Morse, wife of the banker in prison at Atlanta, Ga., is back in the city after paying her husband a visit. She is living at present in the house her husband once owned at No. 728 Fifth Avenue, but she is only going to remain there a day or two. The house was sold recently, but Mrs. Morse has permission to occupy it for a year. The furnishings are hers and she will rent it if she can. A sign to that effect will be put up on the house today.

"My place is as near my husband as I can get," said Mrs. Morse last night, "and I will be in Atlanta as long as circumstances require it. I came back here because I have some business to attend to that requires my personal attention.

"There are other legal methods to be tried to get Mr. Morse free, and I want to consult Mr. Littleton about them. I did not see him today as he was out of town.

"I will devote my entire time to trying to free my husband. It is known of course that a petition will be made for executive clemency if all other means fail. Thousands of these petitions have been sent from people all over the country for my husband and also many strangers have requested my permission to circulate these petitions for signature."

Mrs. Morse, in answer to questions as to how she left her husband, replied:

"He is bearing up under his trials like the brave man he is. No man who was not brave could suffer so stoically as he has done. He is hoping for the best of court, and so am I. Trials and troubles make the whole world kin, and I am learning how generous people are. I need the help of every good man and woman, and I hope I will have it when the time comes to assist in getting my husband free."

Row on Market Street. One man Badly Wounded Up Boston Fighters Fired by the Court.

As a result of a bad row on Market street Monday night Joseph Parsons and G. T. Lyons of Boston and George Valga and Carl Rossa of this city were up before the police court today and two of the bunch looked as if a small sized cyclone met them square and fair in the face and eyes.

It all happened just before 11 o'clock and previous to that they all had several high ones together over the bar.

When police officers Kelley and Anderson arrived on the scene the bunch were clawing and punching one another in the middle of the street with Valga on the bottom bleeding freely from all parts of the face.

Lyons and Parsons claimed they were attacked by the others without warning but it was brought out that the story was a frame-up. The court ordered the release of Valga and Rossa on the charge and took a fine of $5.00 and costs of $6.00 each from the Boston fighters.

WELCOME, WISTARIA*New Lightouse Tender to Work in the First District

Portland, Jan. 11.—It is learned that the lighthouse tender Wistaria will be sent to this port to replace the old Geranium, which will go under the hammer Jan. 19, and be sold to the highest bidder, probably to be broken up and sent to the junk heap.

Several weeks ago it was announced that the Geranium would be replaced here by a more modern boat but just what tender the government would send here was not known at that time, though it was intimated that the Wistaria would be selected. However, today the lighthouse officials are informed that the new tender will be the Wistaria, now at Charleston, South Carolina.

Early next week Captain Benjamin D. Cotter who has commanded the Geranium for over twenty-five years, will leave this city for Charleston and will return with the Wistaria at the first opportunity.

The Wistaria is one of the largest lighthouse tenders in the lighthouse service and while not so powerful as the Lilac she is 22 feet longer. Constructed of iron at Wilmington, Delaware, the Wistaria is 107.5 feet in length, 25 feet beam and draws 10 feet of water. She has 250 indicated horsepower and was launched in 1882.

It is thought the new tender will arrive here the latter part of the present month and the officials here say that she will at once take up the work of the Geranium.

KIERNAN'S RECITAL

Splendid Entertainment at Young Men's Christian Association

A highly pleased audience was treated Monday evening at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall to a marvelous rendering of one of the most famous characters on the American stage, Rip Van Winkle, and a really wonderful imitation of the man who made the character famous, Jo-seph Jefferson.

Mr. George Kiernan, who gave this remarkable and delightful evening's entertainment was true to life, and the diction, mannerisms and facial expressions showed that he has made a most faithful study of that great master and much loved actor, Jefferson.

Mr. Kiernan has a fine stage presence, a splendid voice and an enthusiasm which carries his audience along with him and the faithful manner in which he portrays each character and the minuteness with which he explained every detail, was instructive as well as entertaining.

Mr. Jefferson personally helped Mr. Kiernan in the original arrangement of this sketch and it was certainly an opportunity which more people should have availed themselves of.

On next Monday evening, Dec. 17, Mr. Kiernan will be heard again, this time in David Warfield's great character study, "The Music Master," and the Hall certainly ought to be taxed to its utmost as it will be the only chance to hear Mr. Kiernan and it will be next to hearing Warfield himself.

NEGRO WAITERS DISAPPEAR

From the Hotels in the Great City of Providence

Providence, R. I., Jan. 11.—Today sees the elimination of the negro as a hotel waiter in this city. The last of the big hosteries gave its colored waiters notice several days ago and white men have taken their places at the tables.

A representative of the hotels said: "Yes, we have put on all white waiters in our dining rooms and cafés. As a matter of fact, we have been behind hand, for you will find that all the first class hotels on the European plan have white waiters today, and all we have done is to fall into line, and not only on the question of waiters but in several other lines. That's all there is to it."

And many others which we have not room to mention here.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you, but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

A LOST BOY

Sound Kidneys and No Bladder Trouble

Mysterious Thomas Luke Who Does Not Know Where He Lives.

A bright little lad, giving the name of Thomas Luke, is detained at the police station, because the police or Thomas himself do not know where his home is.

The little fellow, who remarked that his mother said that he was 9 years old, but he thought he was only seven, was picked up Monday afternoon while wandering about near the depot, and turned over to the police.

He was unable to tell where he came from other than he had rode on a train for some time yesterday with his father and mother, and had passed last night with his aunt. His father's name, he said, was George Luke, and he was employed in a ship yard, but where he could not give any definite answer. On every other matter the lad was apparently very bright, but lost on locations.

The boy is clothed comfortably and warmly and has been well cared for both physically and mentally. His overcoat bears the name of a dealer in Westfield, Mass., and the police think he may come from that town.

A LIVELY SCRAPPY ON MARKET STREET

Hungarians and Natives Mix it Up, and the Former Get the Worst of it

Two Hungarians who gave their names as Joe Rossier and Joe Robbler had a lively mix up about eleven o'clock on Monday night, with G. T. Lyons and Joseph Parsons, employed by a contractor at the Morley Butto factory.

They got into an argument on the corner of Hanover and Market streets and Parsons claims that he was struck in the nose with a blackjack, and they promptly waded into the Hungarians. They were at it hammer and tongs when Officers Kelley and Anderson appeared on the scene and arrested the bunch.

Rossier has two of the handsomest black eyes seen at the station for a long time, and the others show more or less marks of the fray.

ABOARD A SUBMARINE

The Crew, the Work and the Kind of Life the Men Lead

Life aboard a submarine is not so unpleasant or dangerous as one might imagine, but it is entirely different from that led on other types of ships.

The crew, usually consisting of two officers and fourteen men is selected from volunteers after a most rigid medical examination. Service rarely extends beyond a period of two years, and real work on a submarine is limited to about three weeks in the summer and one in the winter. During the remainder of the time the men live on a "parent" ship or on shore. The boat, however, is put through the various evolutions once every week.

The first impression on entering a

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Portsmouth

Do the right thing at the right time.

Act quickly in times of danger. Backache is kidney danger.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Cure all distressing, dangerous kidney ills.

Plenty of evidence to prove this. Albert Dunlap, 17 School Street, Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I suffered from kidney disease, brought on I believe by the hardships I endured while in the army. Some years ago my complaint became much worse and there was a constant pain in the small of my back that made me miserable. It was difficult for me to get about and if I stooped or moved suddenly, sharp twinges darted through my body. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a sure cure for such troubles, I decided to try them and procured a box at Phillips' Drug Store. After using about half the contents, I could see an improvement and almost before I realized it, the pains in my back had ceased. I have had no trouble to speak of from my kidneys since. Occasionally when I have taken a slight cold or overworked, my back has become weak, but at such times a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pill have always relieved me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Taking of all kinds promptly attended to.

TRIED TO ROB STORE

Backache and All Distress from Out-of-Order Kidneys Will Vanish

The most effective and harmless way to cure backache and regulate out-of-order kidneys, or end bladder trouble, is to take several doses of Dr. Pepe's Diuretic.

You will distinctly feel that your kidneys and urinary organs are being cleaned, healed, and vitalized, and all the miserable symptoms such as backache, headache, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, inflamed or swollen eyelids, irritability, sleeplessness, or suppressed, painful or frequent urination (especially at night) and other distress, leaving after taking the first few doses.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder, or rheumatism, begin taking this harmless preparation as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Dr. Pepe's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Dr. Pepe, Thompson & Pepe, of Cincinnati, is a large and thoroughly responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Don't be miserable or worried another moment with a lame back or clogged, inactive kidneys or bladder misery. All this goes after you start taking Dr. Pepe's Diuretic, and in a few days you feel and know that your kidneys, liver and urinary system are healthy, clean and normal, and all danger passed.

Accept only Dr. Pepe's Diuretic—fifty-cent treatment—from any drug store—anywhere in the world.

submarine is one of heat, the air being close and heavy, but the men soon become accustomed to it. Standing room space is about six and one-half feet, and toward both ends the boat tapers away almost to a point. There are no port holes. The hatchway in the conning tower is the only aperture. Under water electric light is used. There are ventilators, but when the boat dives they are shut off with a cap.

Life on board a submarine is essentially "in common." The way men and many objects are crammed together in a narrow space is almost miraculous.

Cooking is done in an electric oven and no foods which have a strong or disagreeable smell are used. Of course smoking is allowed only when on the surface and then on the bridge. Owing to the character of the men selected discipline is perfect.

There is scarcely any noise in a submarine when submerged. The greatest depth the boat descends does not exceed thirty feet. At that depth the speed is about eight knots. The air is quite breathable for four hours but in case of emergency the crew can remain closed in for seventy hours without danger.

The men love the life. With the officers they are as one family, sharing everything equally, including the dangers, which are much to speak of, provided everyone does his duty. When the weather is fair there is very little rolling. In rough weather the men escape knocking about by holding on to "steading lines."—New York Press.

MRS. SMYTH'S TOUR

Widow of Ex-Governor is Started on a Long Journey

Mrs. Marion C. Smyth, widow of former Gov. Frederick Smyth, sailed from New York Saturday afternoon on the English steamer, "Thames," for Colon, Isthmus of Panama. Mrs. Colon will travel across the Isthmus from Colon to Panama, and visit the scene of operations in the making of the big canal. She will then sail from Panama for Valparaiso, Chile. From that point Mrs. Smyth is undecided as to whether she will cross South America to Buenos Ayres, or sail around Cape Horn.

However, if there is a good party of tourists, Mrs. Smyth may cross the Andes to Buenos Ayres, or try the new railroad which has been built from Valparaiso to Buenos Ayres. Or she may sail around the cape. On the east coast of South America, Mrs. Smyth will visit Buenos Ayres, Rio Janeiro Brazil, and also at Pernambuco, further north. It is also probable that the lady will make an excursion up the mouth of the Amazon river.

Mrs. Smyth will sail from South America to England and Scotland, and will visit Paris before her return to this country. Mrs. Smyth expects to be back in Manchester by the first of April, next.

MULE RAISING IS PROFITABLE.

Mule raising is fast becoming a large and most important industry throughout the United States, and it may be said that it is one of the principal live stock industries in certain sections—namely, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and Virginia.

While in the states where the largest number of mules are raised the conditions are well suited for the industry, there is nothing to make it a special business more than could be done in a number of other states, except that the farmers' got into the business long ago, and it proved contagious and spread over a considerable territory, and dealers, finding it out, naturally went there to buy them.

On the other hand, horse colts are raised to a considerable extent in all the states where the conditions are favorable to live stock growing. If many of the mares used as brood mares in different states for producing horse colts were bred to jacks instead of stallions it would be found more profitable and in every way more satisfactory. This idea was suggested by a well known breeder for the benefit of any who are doing anything in the way of raising horse colts, for the reason that he believes mule colts will be found more profitable to any owner of good sized mares that will foal colts that have the qualities to make them valuable.

Mule colts have decided advantages over horse colts in a general way. We all know that at the present time a horse colt or a young horse to be suitable at a profit must possess some qualities of high character. Good drivers, good saddlers, good draft horses and some other classes, as army horses, will sell at a profit, but "plugs" are not wanted at figures that pay to raise them.

Of course there may be "plug" mules as well as "plug" horses, and no doubt they will average less profitable mules cannot be made to pay any profit in any region where it costs a reasonable amount to raise a colt. So in breeding mares for mules it is foolish to use small and defective mares or to use a small and inferior jack.

Any man who has enough land of the kind to make grass will in almost appearance of the bull is strongly masculine, but that of the cow is no less feminine than in the milk form.

It may be further emphasized that the milk and beef form describes a cow of the wedge form, with shoulders moderately thick, deep and broad, crops well filled, barrel well rounded, loin and hips broad and full and quarters straight, wide and full. To this form of these cattle is due their extraordinary constitutional vigor of vital force, and affects all their relations to their food, care and production.

The milk and beef form is not accompanied with the angularity of appearance, the light shoulders and chest and the comparatively light quarters of cattle of the milk form.

Keeping Milk Utensils Clean.

Discard the dishcloth and the dish towel when the milk utensils are being washed. Wash them in warm water first, with plenty of some washing compound, and use a brush to do the work, but never a rag. Get into every part of them, after which rinse with clean warm water, and then either put them in boiling water or pour boiling water over them. Stand the parts up so that they will drain and use no cloth to wipe them. The hot surface will dry them quickly, and they will be clean. Leave the parts in a sunshiny place if possible.

HIGH HEADED VIRGINIA MULES.

any state now find mule raising very profitable if he will get the right sort of mares and keep the colts growing right along till they make the necessary size. The mares must be of good size. The mule will be sure to get his size from his dam, and if he is kept growing right along he will be good for a fair price as a two-year-old and for a better one at three, and yet the cost will not be more than that of a steer of the same age.

Feeding is another important factor in mule raising. Either corn or oats are good feed to use with alfalfa hay. They will give better results if used together than if either one is fed alone.

If the mules do not seem to eat as much as they should, mix shelled corn and oats in equal parts by weight and grind them. Feed only a little ground feed at first and gradually increase it as they get accustomed to the change.

Some of the mules may not eat any more of the ground feed than of the whole corn and oats, but what they do eat will do them more good. A little blackstrap molasses mixed with the grain will make it more palatable after they once become used to it, increasing the consumption of grain and consequently making faster gains.

If the mules have any tendency to scatter at work the main grain reliance should be oats, or a little of some other kind of hay might be fed with the alfalfa.

The Value of the Separator.

The value of the cream separator is based on the amount it saves out of the loss of the cream that is common under the old or primitive methods. Usually there is a loss of 25 to 60 per cent of the cream. The cream separator saves this loss, and, computing that under the average price of butter fat the cream separator will save the farmer $10 or more a cow per year, so we see that if a farmer milks five or six cows he saves one in a year to buy a cream separator above the old methods. Many of the hardware dealers who are separator agents have said to me frequently that they are always pleased to sell a cream separator to the farmer because it brought them into closer relation or to a better friendship than any other commodity they could sell.

THE DAIRYMAN

Have some lard or vaseline handy to anoint sore teats. Sore teats and a tender udder often make the cow kick when otherwise she would not do so.

Care Should Be Taken While Milking.

No smoking or chewing of tobacco should be permitted while the milking is being done. The odor of the weed is quickly absorbed by the sensitive muzzles.

Stop the Cow From Kicking.

A kicking cow may often be cured by buckling a strap one inch wide around each leg a little above the hock, tight enough to compress the haemostatic.

Use Only Pure Water.

Only pure water should be used in washing vessels. First rinse with warm water, then scald inside and out with boiling water. After that put out in the sun to dry.

For the Beginner.

In beginning select a few cows, grade if you like, and keep a strict account upon the performance of your cows, and call all who do not more than pay their way.

Pet and Fondle the Calves.

The calves should be petted and fondled from babyhood when you expect to make milk cows of them. It is good even to rub their udders and develop in them the motherly cow nature.

Regularity Essential.

Regularity is essential to satisfactory performances of any good dairy cow.

She must have her life regulated upon an almost clock-like system—the same hour each day for milking, feeding, grooming, pasturing, etc.

Treatment of the Separator.

The separator is a machine which should receive careful treatment if it is to do its best work.

Foundations should be solid and the machine set perfectly level. All bearings should receive frequent washings with kerosene. This will make the machine run easily and prolong its life.

Keep the machine well oiled with the special oil sent out with the separator.

Separators should be located in a clean, well ventilated place free from odors.

It is not necessary to say that the separator should be taken apart and thoroughly cleaned and aired after each time it is used.

REARING THE CALF.

It Requires Good Judgment and the Strict Attention of the Breeder.

When calves are to be reared either for breeding uses or for growing into beef, great care should be taken to discard some at a comparatively early age. An expert says that it would pay better to give away unprofitable calves than to attempt to rear them.

It is true nevertheless that there may be instances wherein calves do not promise well at the first and made good development later, but these instances are the exception rather than the rule.

When calves come prematurely they seldom develop as well as when born at the proper time. It may pay to rear some pure breeds that are thus born, but it is questionable if it will pay to rear such calves if

Hack Horses Take It on the Run from the Depot

A pair of horses attached to one of the depot hacks took flight on Monday afternoon and made a mad dash up Deer street. In their flight it was certain they would crash through the big show window of the Portsmouth Furniture company and this was prevented only by the timely and heroic work of bassage Master Garland at the depot, who was coming along at the time and made a gallant move in checking the speed of the excited animals.

ESCAPED MAN WAS CAUGHT IN VERMONT

Solves Mystery Surrounding an Escape from the Naval Prison

Prisoner Pomeroy Was Really Drowned While Trying to swim the River

Today, two Vermont sheriffs, one from Burlington and the other from Winooski, came here with Carl Nickelson, an escaped naval convict who got away from the naval prison with two others in a daring break out in October last.

Nickelson a Bad Man

It is said that Nickelson was the leader of the gang whom he got together for a wholesale escape of prisoners, but only three, Nickelson, O'Brien and Pomeroy succeeded in getting out. These men got on the roof and by aid of ropes and bed clothing lowered themselves to the ground.

Pomeroy Drowns

They then swam the river to Kittery Point, in which effort one of them, Pomeroy, was drowned.

Nickelson and O'Brien, after reaching Kittery Point, managed in some way to get a change of clothing and took the railroad track to Jevett, formerly Conway Junction, there they got a west bound freight and landed in Boston.

Tries to get in Army

O'Brien got into New York city and only last week gave himself up.
